400 Million Outlay For Greece, Turkey Approved by House

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—A precedent-shattering $400,000,000 measure to bolster Greece and Turkey against Communist domination was passed by the House tonight, 287 to 107.

On the final roll call, 127 Republicans and 160 Democrats voted for it. Against the measure were 93 Republicans, 13 Democrats and Rep. Marcantonio (Al-N.Y.).

Congressmen of both parties guarded it successfully from all attempts to deny the Administration the right to use troops and military material in the effort. Other attempts to limit the program also were defeated.

Final approval followed four days of turbulent House debate dominated by angry legislative reaction to Russia's postwar activities, opposition cries that President Truman's program might mean war, counter claims that it would stabilize peace.

The strength of those supporting the measure was apparent from the ease with which they beat back the amendments.

A motion by Rep. Holtfield (D-Calif.), to send it back to the foreign affairs committee for changes were shouted down. Holtfield could not even obtain a rollcall vote on his motion—he needed one-fifth of those present to support his request for a rollcall, and could muster only 47 votes of more than 300 present.

The measure returns now to the Senate, where it originally passed April 22 by a vote of 67 to 22, for action on minor changes made by the House. If the Senate refuses to agree to the House changes, the bill will go to a conference committee for adjustment.

In either case, there appeared no reason for any further material delay. But already the bill is a month and a half past the deadline the Administration was reported originally to have set for its passage.

With official reports that the plight of Greece particularly is growing more acute daily as dollar credits are used up and British aid tapers off, the State department already has made plans to start the American assistance flowing as soon as Mr. Truman signs the bill.

A move by Rep. Lawrence Smith (R-Wis.) to refer the matter to the United Nations and permit American action only if the U. N. failed to move within 60 days collapsed on a standing vote of 137 to 65. Opponents of the measure had concentrated their strength on that.

And another proposal by Smith to trim the $400,000,000 authorization (Continued on Page Three)

DEMOS SPONSOR SUBSTITUTE FOR LABOR MEASURE

11 Senators Claim New Proposal Meets Truman's Viewpoints

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—In a stormy night session of the Senate, a group of 11 Democrats tonight introduced a complete substitute for the union-curbing bill the chamber has been debating two weeks.

Senator Murray (D-Mont.), offering it on behalf of himself and ten colleagues, said it meets President Truman's suggestions on labor legislation and covers other matters as well. But he did not specify that there was any presidential agreement to accept it, nor indicate whether Administration officials had a hand in its preparation.

His action followed an unusual session which Mr. Truman held earlier today with seven cabinet members and other aides on labor legislation. The word after that conference, however, was that it was concerned principally with the anti-portal-pay bill. The President's official family was reported split on whether he should sign or veto that bill.

Joining with Murray in sponsoring the new labor disputes bill as a substitute for the pending measure were Senators Pepper (D-Fla.), Elbert Thomas (Utah), Chavez (N.M.), Green (R. I.), Kilgore (W. Va.), Olin D. Johnston (S. C.), Magnuson (Wash.), Myers (Pa.), Taylor (Idaho) and McCarath (R. I.).

Murray said one section meets Mr. Truman's recommendation that machinery be provided "whereby unsettled disputes concerning the interpretation of an existing agreement may be referred by either party to a final and binding arbitration."

He said another provision would carry out a recommendation of the President's labor-management conference that the U. S. conciliation be strengthened within the Labor department. The pending bill would create a new mediation agency apart from the Labor department.

The action of Murray and his colleagues in offering the substitute precipitated a bitter wrangle with the Republican leaders.

All efforts of the Republican leadership to obtain unanimous agreement to the Senate to take a final vote on labor legislation next week—Monday, Tuesday and even Friday were mentioned—came to nothing, and the Senate recessed shortly before 9 P. M. until Monday morning.

Before this controversy, the Senate had adopted amendments to make unions liable for damages in jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts, and to deny bargaining rights to a union if any officer is a Communist or sympathizer or could "reasonably be regarded" as one.

It had defeated an amendment by Senators Ball (R-Minn.) and Byrd (D-Va.) which would have outlawed the union shop and all other forms of compulsory union membership. It also had rejected proposals to permit employers to seek injunctions for stopping the jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts.

With good progress being made in disposing of amendments, Senator Wherry (R-Nebr.), acting as manager (Continued on Page Nine)

Robeson Maps Campaign For Fight on 'Fascism'

ALBANY, N. Y., May 9 (AP)—Paul Robeson, Negro baritone, gave a recital tonight which he said was his last professional appearance for the next two years. Robeson said he would devote the next two years to fighting "Fascism" as an unpaid lecturer and singer.

High Street Buildings Damaged In Two Fires; Families Flee Flames

Spring Dance in Beautiful Setting of Dogwood Blossoms

Dogwood trees on the Ira Gruber estate, on Route 83, have burst into full bloom and, as in past years, they are expected to attract throngs of flower lovers from all parts of the state. With clusters of dogwood blossoms as a backdrop, the Spring setting is made

TRAFFIC TIED UP AS HUNDREDS FLOCK TO SCENE

Firemen Battle Blazes In Apartments, Restaurant Of Adjoining Structures

Flames broke out in adjoining buildings, the second bringing firemen to the scene only 20 minutes after the other had been extinguished, forced three families to flee their apartments in the 300 block on High street last night and caused a combined estimated damage of $6500.

The first blaze, starting at 6:30 o'clock, damaged three apartments above the Model Cleaning and Dyeing company store at 304 East High street. The store also was damaged by water. Firemen estimated the loss at $6000.

Only 20 minutes after the "out" signal on the fire whistle sounded at 8:10 o'clock, apparatus from the three departments returned to the scene where fire had broken out in the Vienna restaurant building, 302-High street. Flames, started in the kitchen, licked upward through a ventilator and ignited the roof. Firemen estimated the damage at $600.

The two buildings are owned by Hyman Slem.

Hundreds of spectators gathered at the scene of the two fires, most of them Friday night shoppers. High street traffic was tied up for several hours and buses and automobiles were routed around the area via King and other parallel streets.

The fire in the apartment house started, according to Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer, in a closet in the attic of the third floor apartment suite occupied by Mrs. Catherine Miller.

Mrs. Miller had been to the movies yesterday afternoon with her three children, William 14, Robert, 5 and Janet, 8.

When they went upstairs to their apartment, they detected the odor of smoke. They aroused occupants of other apartments and an alarm was sent from Box 45, High and Charlotte streets.

In the meantime, the occupants of the other suites fled from the smoke-filled building. Charles O'Neill and his five children: Herman, 10; Lillian, 6; Harry, 4; Edna, 2; and Dorothy Ann, six months; and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jefferson, and daughter, Carol Ann, 8 months; and Mrs. Cora M. Orrs, 60.

They were given shelter in the nearby Eagles' home by Lodge Secretary Daniel S. Drummheller, who is captain of the fire police (Continued on Page Three)

Arabs Press Demands For Palestine Liberty

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 9 (AP)—The Arab higher committee late today called on the United Nations for an independent state of Palestine immediately. The Jewish agency countered with a demand for free immigration that would build-up a Jewish home in the Holy Land first.

The clash pivoted around the question of immigration, with the Arabs insisting that all entry into Palestine be halted immediately and the Jews seeking relaxation of the British ban on entry.

The Arabs now enjoy a two-thirds population edge over the Jews in Palestine.

Henry Katon, Palestine attorney, made the keynote address for the Arab higher committee as the rival factions met face to face for the first time before the 55-nation political committee in the U. N. assembly debate over the future of the strife-torn mandate.

In the call for independence, Katon said continuation of the British mandate threatens peace in Palestine and security of the Middle East. He added that "no amount of propaganda can change the Arab character of Palestine."

SENATORS VOTE TAX DECREASE

10% to 30 Percent Cut Favored by Committee; 4 Billion Savings Seen

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The Senate finance committee voted today to cut income taxes by 10.5 to 30 percent next July 1.

Over a full year's operation, committee experts estimated, the bill would save individual taxpayers $4,000,000,000. They would reap only half of that saving, however, in the last half of 1947.

The smallest taxpayers will get the biggest percentage reductions if the bill clears the Senate, gets the approval of the House and President Truman, and goes on the law books. The big taxpayers, of course, would gain the biggest individual dollar benefits.

New withholding rates would take effect July 1.

The bill approved by the Senate committee is an amended version of House Bill No. 1, introduced by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.), of the ways and means committee, and passed by the House.

Hospitals Schedule Weekend Programs

To celebrate National Hospital Day on Monday, the anniversary of Florence Nightingale, mother of modern nursing, both Pottstown hospitals will hold observances over the weekend.

This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Memorial hospital will hold a reception in the auditorium of St. James Lutheran church for all babies born in the hospital the past year. A baby parade will follow. Between May 1, 1946 and the first of this month, 553 babies were born in the hospital.

Mrs. Dorothy L. Mulford, hospital superintendent, said the institution would not hold open house to the public because of repairs and building still in progress.

The Pottstown hospital will open its doors to the public from 2 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

This IS Different: Pay Hike Spurned

PORT HURON, Mich., May 9 (AP)—Union leaders here today passed up a 25 cent hourly raise with a spokesman declaring their action was "our contribution to stabilizing building costs."

Officers of Local 10, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers (AFL), said the raise had been agreed upon recently in negotiations and would have become effective soon. The current pay rate is $2 an hour.

The raise previously had been obtained by the union in negotiations with contractors of the metropolitan Detroit area, with others in neighboring cities such as Port Huron following suit.

Tag Day Today to Aid Boys' Club House Fund

The Pottstown Optimist club will hold Tag Day today to raise funds for the new club house which will be the scene of its future boys' work activities.

A group of 25 girls of the Junior Red Cross club of the Pottstown Junior High school will campaign for funds along High street, Gallo said.

Each contributor to the fund for the new club house will receive a tag from one of the girls showing that he has given to the fund.

Saddened Parent Tells Boy His Legs Lost in Operation

CHICAGO, May 9 (AP)—How does one tell his six-year-old son that his feet are gone?

Howard Richey carried to his boy's hospital bed a model airplane and two toy guns with holsters to take some of the bitterness from the telling.

Young Dale Richey, injured in a gasoline explosion April 1, had been unaware that both his feet had been amputated. The news also was withheld from his mother until she had given birth to a baby Tuesday.

Husky-voiced, the father began by reminding Dale that he soon would play with one of his favorite chums.

"But I wanted to tell you one thing first," he said gently. "Your legs are shorter than they were before."

"They were so badly burned that the doctors had to take off the feet." (Continued on Page Three)

33-Degree Low, Frost Covers Area But Fruit Crops Escape

Winter continued to play its return engagement in Pottstown yesterday, as the thermometer skidded to 33 degrees at 6 a. m., breaking the all-time low for the second consecutive day. The previous low point for May 9 was 34 degrees in 1898.

Although heavy frost was reported in rural areas early yesterday morning, fruit growers in the area found no damage, mainly because a combination of winds and clouds kept the frost from settling.

Other parts of the State were not so lucky. Adams and York counties, large fruit-producing sections, were hard hit by the cold snap. Temperatures as low as 27 degrees ruined many Stayman-type apple growths and damaged peach and cherry trees. Strawberries, in full bloom in York county, were also affected.

Richard Precon, proprietor of Boyertown Fruit Farms, used a "speed sprayer" and burned old automobile tires Thursday night, although it turned out that these measures were not necessary.

Last night, when there was no wind to keep off the frost, he burned fuel oil in gallon cans over an area of 15 acres.

Sheldon Funk, another Boyertown grower, attributed the lack of damage Thursday night and early yesterday morning to the temperature, which went down only to 31 on his farm.

"It takes a 27-28 degree frost to do any real damage," he said.

Milton Keim also reported no harm done by Thursday's nipping frosts, although he expressed fear that he might find some ruined growths this morning after another night of cold.

Among the apple orchards at Ringing Hill, owned by William L. Hampton, no damage was done yesterday morning.

Temperatures will remain below normal for a few days, but by Tuesday, Spring weather should be with us once again.

Today will be sunny and slightly warmer, but there is a possibility of frost again tonight. Tomorrow will be increasingly cloudy and warmer. Some rain is predicted for tomorrow.

Receive Clean-Up Essay Prizes

'Mom' to Be Honored Member Of Family at Tomorrow's Events

With special church services, family reunions, and perhaps a little keener appreciation of "mom" that comes to most people once a year, the 34th annual celebration of Mother's Day will take place tomorrow.

Many mothers in Pottstown, like those throughout the country, will joyfully work a little harder tomorrow to prepare a dinner for their families, still thankful that their sons are with them again after a war-time absence. To others, the day will bring a sharper pang from the memory of those they lost.

In addition to Mother's Day celebrations and presents in the homes, churches in this vicinity have planned special programs for the day.

Every mother attending services in East National Baptist church tomorrow will receive a carnation, while a play, songs, and music will fill a Mothers' Day program. The oldest and the youngest mothers in the congregation will receive presents.

The Mother's Day class of the Sunday school at Emmanuel Lutheran church will have a contest of honor at services at the church at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock in Pottstown Baptist church the mothers of the church will be the guests of honor at a breakfast and luncheon. The mothers with the largest families in attendance will receive a token of appreciation.

Officers at Fires; Meeting Delayed

Last night's meeting of the Eagles Home association was delayed about three quarters of an hour when its two key officers, Daniel F. Drummheller, president, and Richard E. Lindauer, vice-president, were called to official duties at the fire next door.

Drummheller, chief of fire police, and Lindauer, fire chief, were both on the street acting in official capacity and did not arrive at the meeting until late.

The session was due to start at 8 o'clock. The president arrived at 8:30 o'clock and Lindauer was unable to attend until 9 o'clock.

One association member said some smoke from the blaze leaked into some of the building's back rooms but did no damage.

Routine business was accomplished at the meeting which was concluded at 9:30 o'clock.

Italian Peace Pact Okayed By Senate Committee Vote

WASHINGTON, May 9 (P)—The peace treaty for Italy, tagged "too harsh" by many Italian-Americans but upheld by U. S. officials as the best possible won 13 to 0 approval of the Senate foreign relations committee today.

A like vote also sent to the Senate the peace treaties for Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria. A two-thirds vote is necessary for Senate ratification and President Truman has urged immediate action.

Final approval by all the big powers would mean the withdrawal of occupation troops except for communications forces linked to the Russian zone of Austria.

Main opposition to the Italian treaty, which was hammered out by big four foreign ministers in Paris and New York, centered on its demilitarization clauses.

Critics say that this virtual scrapping of Italy's army and navy plus de-fortification of her northern boundary would open the strategic peninsula to the same sort of Communist encroachment President Truman opposes in Greece and Turkey.

Mr. Truman, however, told the committee through Secretary of State Marshall that he does not share this view.

Objections were raised, too, to the reparations bill — $125,000,000 to Yugoslavia, $105,000,000 to Greece, $100,000,000 to Russia, $25,000,000 to Austria, $25,000,000 to Ethiopia and $5,000,000 to Albania.

James F. Byrnes, former secretary of state, and Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Connally (D-Tex.) all told protesting representatives of Italian-American societies that as delegates to the peace conference, they did all they could to keep Italy's punishment down and succeeded in softening stronger Russian demands.

Willie Francis Dies In Electric Chair

ST. MARTINVILLE, La., May 9 (P)—Willie Francis made his second trip to the electric chair today, wearing his Sunday pants and his "Sunday heart."

The same chair which spared his life through a mechanical failure a year ago, took it this time, took it quickly, and apparently painlessly. Electrocuter Grady Jarrett threw the switch at 2:05 p. m. (Pottstown time) and again at 2:06, and at 2:10 the negro was pronounced dead.

Willie Francis previously said he was going to "wear my Sunday pants and my Sunday heart to the chair."

"Ain't going to wear no beat-up pants to see the Lord," he said. "Been busy talking my way into Heaven for the past year. Them folks expecting me to come in style."

Willie paid the legal penalty for the killing of Andrew Thomas, a white druggist of St. Martinville, in a holdup that netted four dollars and a watch Thomas' brother, Claude, who was chief of police here at the time of the slaying, was among the witnesses today.

TRUMAN WANTS FUNDS TO PURGE U. S. EMPLOYEES

Investigation by FBI
Arranged for Workers
In Check on Loyalty

WASHINGTON, May 9 (P)—President Truman asked $24,900,000 from Congress today to get started on a purge of all government employees where there are "reasonable grounds" to doubt their loyalty.

The money is to run until June 30, 1948, and all employees not scheduled to leave the jobs before then are to be checked against name and fingerprint files of the FBI.

Mr. Truman said in a statement: "If derogatory information relating to loyalty is discovered, the FBI will make a full field investigation and report all derogatory information to the employing agency."

In setting up loyalty standards in an executive order March 22, the President laid down this criterion of disloyalty:

"Membership in affiliation with or sympathetic association with any foreign or domestic organization, association, movement, group or combination of persons, designated by the attorney general as totalitarian, Fascist, Communist, or subversive, or as having adopted a policy of advocating or approving the commission of acts of force or violence to deny other persons their rights under the constitution of the United States or as seeking to alter the form of government of the United States by unconstitutional means."

Those found to be disloyal shall be fired; all applicants for work must be investigated before getting jobs. Those accused may appeal to a top loyalty review board in the Civil Service commission.

Mr. Truman issued his order amid congressional demands for a housecleaning of alleged Communists in the Government.

Unionists Protest Berlin Food Shortage

BERLIN, May 9 (P)—Trade unionists in Hamburg quit their jobs at noon today and with their supporters massed more than 100,000 strong before a red-draped balcony at union headquarters to protest food shortages in the British-occupied zone.

The demonstration occurred as German newspapers reported the daily ration in one city in the Ruhr had dropped to 650 calories daily—far below the 900 to 1100 ration once handed out by the Nazis in their concentration camps at Buchenwald and elsewhere.

Union leaders who called the half-day Hamburg strike said it was the biggest rally of Germans since the end of the war.

Producer White Ends Jail Term

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 9 (P)—George White, 55, former New York and Hollywood producer of girl "scandals," today completed his year sentence for the "hit and run" traffic deaths of a newlywed couple and was released from the county work camp.

"I just want to get out of here as quick as possible," declared the gray-haired showman when he appeared at the office of W. M. Bonham, road camp superintendent, to be released.

Amnesty Sought For Greek Guerillas; U. S. Welcomes Plan

ATHENS, Greece, May 9 (P)—A high government official said today that Mark F. Ethridge Jr., United States member of the United Nations Balkan investigating commission, had proposed to the Greek government that the U. N. supervise the cabinet's program of amnesty for guerillas.

The informant, who would not permit use of his name, said the suggestion was later transmitted through formal diplomatic channels and had been discussed by U. S. Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh in conferences with government leaders.

The officials said there was serious objection to the proposal from powerful members of the cabinet, but nevertheless an emergency cabinet meeting was summoned today to consider the suggestion. Authoritative sources said the cabinet decided to ask Ambassador MacVeagh for "clarification" of the proposal.

(A State department spokesman in Washington said the United States Government would "welcome" any steps by the Greek government to extend an "effective amnesty commanding the confidence of all sections of the Greek population." Such a step, the spokesman said, "would help bring about more settled conditions in Greece.")

French Auto Workers Vote to End Strike

PARIS, May 9 (P)—Workers at the Renault automobile plant voted 12,075 to 6886 tonight to end a walk-out that precipitated the government crisis in which the Communists lost all five of their posts in Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier's cabinet.

The workers, idle since April 29, will return to their jobs on Monday ending the largest current labor threat of the government's economic policy.

tion by half, was snowed under, 121 to 49.

The House also crushed all attempts to bar the use of military aid in the program of helping the two mediterranean countries resist Communism.

By voice vote, it defeated a motion by Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) to narrow the aid to the two southeastern European countries to economic assistance alone.

By a teller vote of 122 to 70, it rejected a motion by Rep. Judd (R-Minn.), a former missionary, to prohibit American "combat troops" being sent as part of the aid. Administration officials, however, have said there is no intention of sending any combat troops.

By a voice vote, it turned down a proposal to limit to 100 men the size of the military missions which would be sent to teach the Greeks and Turks how to use United States military equipment to be shipped under the bill.

By another voice vote, it turned down a move to limit the aid to Greece alone—a step which would have barred any aid to Turkey.

Shouting down effort after effort to restrict or modify the broad terms of the bill, the House also refused to accept a proposal to give war veterans preference in picking the members of the Greek and Turkish economic missions.

Bender denounced what he termed "power-mad State department bureaucrats," accusing them of trying to sell an "insane military alliance under the pretense it is giving food to the hungry and clothes to the naked."

From Representative Vorys (R-Ohio) came a retort that the Bender proposal would make the measure a "Henry Wallace" bill—one which would use American money and material to let the two nations "build themselves into richer prizes" for Russia to pick off.

Russia and the spread of Communism dominated the discussion throughout the fourth day of debate.

Representative Morrow (R-NH), member of the foreign affairs committee, cried out that if Russia believes the Greek-Turkish measure "to be a declaration of war, then let them make the most of it."

"We had better be tying somebody else's hands instead of our own," chimed in Rep. Fulton (R-Pa.) adding:

"If the authors of these amendments will bind Joe Stalin as they propose to bind President Truman and the secretaries of War and Navy, then I'll support these amendments. It will be comforting to Joe Stalin if we approve these amendments. We had better face the issue."

YOUR EYES

Dr. H. C. Baumann

This column is written by Dr. H. C. Baumann, Ophthalmologist, a competent authority on matters pertaining to eyesight.

Man's eyes are on the job sixteen hours a day. Even when his mind and body are resting, his eyes work. All day in an office or factory or shop they perform the tasks by which he earns a living. When the day's work is done, through the leisure hours of evening, the eyes' tasks continue.

Every day the eyes see a million pictures. If the eyesight is normal, they see those million pictures easily, quickly, clearly.

But not everyone's vision is normal. Seven people in ten have defective sight. Their eyes must strain to see and the result is headache and fatigue. Give your eyes the needed attention and have them examined regularly.

If you have any questions concerning your eyes, address Dr. Baumann at 215 High Street, Pottstown, and your query will be answered through this column or by direct mail.

You will have to learn to walk again."

Dale stared intently at a comic book on his bed.

"How will I be able to do that?" he asked.

"All the soldiers in the war who had their legs cut off had to learn how to walk all over again," his father said.

Dale considered this, and said: "I'd rather sit."

A nurse removed the splints which had kept him from knowing of the amputation. He looked at his bandaged legs but said nothing. Then, still dry-eyed, he turned to play with his new airplane.

group which aided the local police in directing traffic and holding back the huge crowd of spectators. Ropes were placed in position to keep back the crowd.

The fire was stubborn, the flames having eaten their way under the supports of the roof. The ladder of the Empire Hook and Ladder company was run up to the roof of the high building and firemen clambered up it with hose.

Fire fighting was directed by Chief Lindauer and Assistant Chiefs Irvin Scheetz and Robert Roth.

The huge tarpaulins donated to the fire department were credited with saving hundreds of dollars worth of property. They were placed over goods stored in the Model company store on the ground floor and over new furniture in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson on the second floor, directly beneath the Miller apartment.

Tarpaulins also were placed on the apartment furnishings of Mrs. Orrs. Her apartment was not damaged. The O'Neill apartment was damaged to some extent.

Chief Lindauer, accompanied by Chief of Police James A. Laughhead, made an inspection of conditions in the Miller apartment after the fire had been extinguished.

Lindauer said, in his opinion, the blaze started in a closet where clothing was stored.

Mrs. Orrs was affected by smoke and shock. She was assisted into the Eagles' home and soon was revived.

Members of the Miller family lost all their clothing and much of their furniture in the fire. They spent last night at the home of a friend, Mrs. Mary Sande, 318 Queen street.

Members of other families residing in the building spent the night in their water-soaked apartments.

Captain Meral Cox of the Salvation Army was on hand to render aid.

Cox was offered sleeping quarters for the fire victims by the Young Women's Christian association, the Visiting Nurses association and the local chapter of the Red Cross. They co-operated in setting up cots in the YWCA club house for the burned out families, but their services were not needed.

Pottstown firemen were aided in fighting the fire by the West End Fire company of Stowe, headed by Fire Chief Roy M. Eagle.

The fire at the restaurant was discovered by Special Officer William H. Albright who sent in an alarm.

The firemen fought the blaze from the rear. They broke open a door in a fruit storage room at the rear of the Stein building at 300 High street. Engine and booster streams were used.

The flames had ignited the roof when the firemen arrived but water was directed against the blaze and the "out" signal was sounded by the fire whistle at 9 o'clock.

Lindauer said the loss at the restaurant fire would be about $500. The roof was damaged and a huge fan was destroyed.

Donald Boyer, 15, of 321 High street, suffered a laceration of the right thumb in the early stages of the first fire when, firemen believe, he cut the finger on broken glass in one of the windows of the house.

A Good Will ambulance took the youth to Pottstown hospital where he was treated and discharged.

Occupants of the Stein apartment house at 300 High street were alarmed when, at the height of the fire at 304 High street, flames and smoke issued from the roof and sides of the structure.

The following prepared for vacating of their premises if necessary: Mrs. Ruth Scheetz and two-year-old daughter; Mrs. Mary Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown and daughter Grace, and Mrs. Florence Salzer, son, Bobbie, 5, and Doris, 12.

Junior High Stages Musical Pageant

A musical pageant, presenting American music from the colonial era to the present day, was sung, played and danced yesterday afternoon at the Junior High school Assembly in the school auditorium before an audience of pupils and parents.

Assembled and directed by Florence Wien, music teacher, the selections were sung by a chorus of over 100 girls, played by the school band and danced by groups of dancers.

Between numbers, Catherine Antonucci read explanatory passages to bolster the continuity of the show.

Piano accompanists to the singer were Sally Krause, Mary Hauff and Phyllis Grow.

Soloists were Betty McMann, Vivian Burden, Betty Werster, Thomas Ottinger, David William, Conrad Snell, Joseph Rinaldi, Paul Bridgman and Gloria Simpson.

The pageant began at 1:15 o'clock and lasted almost two hours. It is an annual affair held in Music Week.

Mother's Day
MOTHER'S DAY officially is only 33 years old in America, but in Mexico it is a custom which dates back 1000 years.

The Nahuan Mexican Indians celebrated it with a flower festival for the Earth Mother Goddess, Chicomehuatl. In this country, President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed Mother's Day on May 8, 1914. He asked that the second Sunday of every May be set aside as Mother's Day and that government officials and private citizens observe it by hanging flags on public buildings and in homes as a national expression of love and reverence for the mothers of this country.

The custom of honoring Mother, however, is not new. Even in ancient times mothers on certain dates were honored with valuable gifts. In medieval times, Mother's Day was the Virgin's Day. Presents were brought to her shrines, and living mothers also were similarly remembered. In medieval England, Mother's Day was called "Mothering Day." Presents were handed out and the custom was termed "Going-A-Mothering."

A recent example of a man's veneration for his mother is that of General Chiang Kai-shek, who erected a Buddhist shrine in memory of his mother, where he goes to seek inspiration and guidance.

The thought of having a special Mother's Day in schools and churches belongs to Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia. The idea came to her when the superintendent of a Sunday school in Virginia asked her to arrange a memorial service for her mother, who had been a leading spirit in the church during her lifetime.

The idea was swiftly adopted by schools and churches over the country, and now is expanded to include an outward demonstration of love and gratitude to mothers by a gift, an act of kindness, words of appreciation, and letters and cards from all members of the family, including those absent from home.

The churches initiated the use of flowers in these Mother's Day services, and the carnation became symbolic of this day and service. Only white carnations are mentioned in connection with church services. But gradually it became the custom to wear a white carnation only if the mother is dead and a pink or red one if she is living. Through the years the custom of wearing red and later giving flowers has become a part of remembering Mother.

School Expense Is Saved

To the Editor: Headline in Thursday's Mercury: "Parochial Students Not Entitled to Buses Under School Law."

Yet, those parents who are denied transportation for their children pay school taxes in order that the public school children can ride on a rainy day while their children have to walk to school in the rain.

'Twas once said that "Taxation without representation is tyranny."

Their parents also pay to their own school so their children may learn to know and serve God, also saving the school district thousands of dollars.

If it is not the law, make it the law by revising the code.

Help Your Kids First

To the Editor: Who took the beating in World War II? The guys that went into service (enlisted or drafted) shortly after receiving their high school diplomas. College educations were nipped in the bud. Their chances to obtain the experience that is required in obtaining a job today simply didn't exist. These younger men were considered ideal "cannon fodder" and were blessed with high-paying positions in the glorious infantry.

Peace has been restored to some parts of the world, but the countries still remaining ill seem to expect the good old U. S. A. to administer the stimulant, and pay for it. Why not care for your own "kids" first and then help the neighbors? Somehow a sufficient amount of funds can be raised to toss a large bucket of dough into foreign breadbaskets, but every time the suggestion of housing projects or a veterans cash bonus arises, the political mentors become completely involved in argumentative suggestions to tax everything from soup to nuts!

Pottstown R. L. G.

EDITOR'S NOTE: For the veterans whose education or vocational training was interrupted, the so-called GI bill of rights provides funds for continuing education and for on-the-job training for particular jobs. Other veterans may obtain loans to help establish their own businesses. The GI bill also helps veterans obtain loans in building or buying their own homes.

FOR THE LIVING OF THESE DAYS

by VICTOR F. PATTERSON
General Secretary Y.M.C.A.

"FOLLOW AFTER RIGHTEOUSNESS, GODLINESS, FAITH, LOVE, STEADFASTNESS, GENTLENESS, FIGHT THE GOOD FIGHT OF FAITH."

I Timothy 6:11, 12

YOU LACK THE FAITH OF A MODERN CHRISTIAN WHEN YOU—

Have lost your enthusiasm for the great and eternal values of life.

Have allowed love to decay in your life so that you no longer respond to the spiritual beckoning of the eternal.

Fear to confess your Faith in God simply because there are some people who have no Faith capacity.

Think Faith is a fatalism, a languid acceptance of whatever may occur.

Are a doubter — discount the Faith of your fellowmen.

Fail to realize that it is impossible for you to please God without Faith.

Lack Faith in truths that are fundamental and vital—cannot think clearly and believe sincerely.

Are unwilling to risk being misjudged and misunderstood.

Have failed to realize that God has a purpose, a plan, and destiny for your life, therefore lack Faith in your own future.

Make prayer a mechanical repetition, a matter of mood.

Are facing crisis hours, look for help to a Father whom you have never met.

Do not realize that in your dark and painful hours there is a Father, strong, wise and loving, into whose hand you can slip your hand.

YOU SHOW ORIGINALITY, DARING AND PROFOUND TRUST IN GOD WHEN YOU—

Have a Faith which is verified by concrete facts.

Believe that the day of miracles will come again.

Realize that it is only by Faith that a person can rise from the jaws of God's wrath.

Have Faith and courage daily in the face of adversity.

Have Faith and courage daily in the face of adversity.

Have Faith and courage daily in the face of adversity.

Officials' Papers Are Private Property

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, May 9.—"Why has the Brewster Committee encountered difficulty in obtaining the late President Roosevelt's papers, dealing with the Arabian oil transaction?" asks R. T. C. of Springfield, Mass.

"It was my understanding that there was a law requiring public officials to leave their papers in the hands of the government, and that Secretary Morgenthau was forced to return Treasury documents because of this statute."

Answer: There is no such law, although Congress may enact one because of the Roosevelt and Morgenthau muddles. As a matter of fact, the courts have held that such papers are a President's personal property.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who was then planning to write a book about her distinguished husband, several times prevented individuals to whom he had written from publishing that material.

Robert Lincoln specified that his father's letters and other data could not be opened for 25 years after his (Robert's) death. The period will expire next July, and Lincoln experts anticipate that they will throw a new light on the Great Emancipator.

"CHITS": The need for legislation distinguishing between the ownership of official and personal papers has become more acute in recent years for obvious reasons, and this applies particularly to F.D.R. He settled many affairs of state at off-the-record chats with the heads of other states and their decisions, as at Yalta and Teheran, were embodied in personal memos.

He used to say, laughingly, that he ran the government on "chits," referring to the notepaper instructions or suggestions that he regularly sent to Cabinet members and other aides.

INSURANCE: P.W.S. of Marinette, Wis., asks why the Veterans Administration, after seven months, has not got around to fixing up his National Life Insurance Policy. P.W.S. married since discharge from the service, and wants his wife named beneficiary.

Answer: As VA has written to P.W.S., Administrator Bradley inaugurated a system of decentralization, and forwarding the matter from Washington, New York or other first-while main offices has caused delay. In some instances, it is understood, the records were deliberately mislaid by disgruntled employees about to be discharged or transferred. VA also says that it is undermanned, blaming this condition on Congressional economy.

For P.W.S.'s sake—or comfort, if such it be—the writer can say that his insurance matters have been no more fortunate than my correspondents'. However, I have forwarded P.W.S.'s file and complaint to the appropriate VA official at Washington.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

BELLE T., 24, is a blond wife of three years duration.

"But, Dr. Crane," she burst out, "I'm at my wit's end, for I can't go on any longer."

"I love my husband and he loves me. But before we got married, he arranged with his brother for his mother to spend her time equally between the two."

"We married and moved in with her. But for the last three years she has never left the house. I have sole care of her, moreover, although she also has a wealthy sister in a nearby town, and a well-to-do brother."

"Dr. Crane, I can't stand it any longer. I'll go crazy if I have to spend another year under such circumstances."

Psychologists usually advise newlyweds NOT to live with their in-laws under any circumstances. And this isn't because your in-laws may not be kindly and generous, but because a young couple's freedom is inevitably cramped.

Besides, the parents are 25 years older than their children. Their attitudes and ideas thus belong to the previous generation. So they cannot perfectly harmonize.

It is better for the newlyweds to live in a one-room shack or trailer. And don't listen to fond mamma's or papa's arguments that their home is plenty large, and that it is silly to pay rent or spend money for furniture when both families could easily live in the old homestead.

Their cozy or luxurious home may be very tempting, especially in our current housing shortage, and they may be very generous in their offer, but do not accept it! Thank them, and be appreciative, but live alone! It is simply good insurance against divorce.

Don't feel that you are going to be the exception and that though unhappiness may result for other couples who live with their parents, you and your mate are quite different.

You aren't! And if you don't remove yourself from your parents, you will probably never attain full emotional adulthood. You will defer to their opinions and mold your life to suit their wishes.

Moreover, when a husband sees this constant deference of his wife to her parents' orders, he seriously deflates his masculine ego. He may then become resentful. To bolster his sense of independence and manhood, he often begins to run around with other women, secretly or openly.

Or the wife, like Belle, becomes a nervous wreck, begins to sulk, argue, cry or go into hysterics. Then mother-in-law intimates or openly remarks to her son that his wife is a baby and that he must get her checked up.

You should always treat your in-laws with respect and courtesy. If they have several children, but are unappreciated in their old age, it is only right that the children should take turns entertaining the parents.

In many cases, however, the pleasure for everybody is the child. It is a shame for the parents to live in a little "cave" of their own or else, if they have quarters in an attractive home for elderly people.

Thus, the parents are not to be with crutches of their own, but have the same money and interests. On Sundays and holidays, the parents can stay among their children, but they will really be happier in the lone room when placed with people of their own age.

If Belle's mother-in-law owns the house, then it is Belle's turn to move out with her husband. It is better for good psychology for her and economics for her son to be able to afford the happiness of a new house, a comfortable car, often in their old age.

Choice of Bad Leads
EXCEPT after something unusual has occurred during the bidding, the worst lead generally against a No Trump game contract is the suit which has been bid by the player that winds up as the dummy. This risks establishing it before its side entry or entries can be removed. The next worst suit to open, as a rule, is the one which the declarer had bid, if any. This puts any honors held by your partner under the hammer. Better than either of these, in most cases, is some unbid suit, even if it is topped by honors in a tenace position, such as an ace-queen or king-jack.

PREVIEW NIGHTS

PIC OF THE WEEK: "Miracle on 34th Street" (Maureen O'Hara - John Payne - Edmund Gwenn). A modestly budgeted fantasy, so rich in imagination, inspiration and entertainment value that you'll go home cheering. Be sure and take the kids.

RECOMMENDED: "Welcome Stranger" (Bing Crosby - Joan Crawford - Harry Fitzgerald). Welcome comedy drama, marred only slightly by too slavish adherence to the "Going-My-Way" plot.

GOOD: "Don Coyote" (Richard Martin - Frances Rafferty - Marc Cramer). Fast-moving romance that will add sparkle to any double bill.

SO-SO: "Spoilers of the North" (Paul Kelly - Adrian Booth - Evelyn Ankers). Dirty work at the Alaskan crossroads, believe it or not.

BEST PERFORMANCE: Edmund Gwenn in "Miracle on 34th Street."

West considered himself on the spot. Unable to lead his partner's suit, he applied a process of elimination to the others. Diamonds would be very, very bad, he reckoned, and might result in setting up in the dummy the tricks which would make the contract. He didn't like to lead spades because South had bid them. That left only clubs, but South had bid those, too, and there was West with tenace honors which he did not like to endanger by an underlead.

Among all these choices, he settled on spades, and so led right into South's tenace, putting East's Q under the guillotine. That gave South his game at once, with four tricks in spades assured, plus three in diamonds and two with his other aces.

As modern bidding is done by fine players, the club opening could have been disregarded by West and the suit treated as if it had never been bid. South had shown a No Trump style of distribution with his calls, including positively a spade suit. The spade lead therefore was extremely risky. In this case a club lead would have been quite logical, the 6. Even the diamond lead would have been less dangerous, in view of the kind of suit West held. But the club would have to find East with only the Q to keep it from being costly, and if he had the A with the Q in South's hand, it could have been the killer.

Notice that, with either a club or diamond lead, South would have had to guess the right way to play the spades; if he finessed West for the Q, he would have been set.

Your Weekend Question
In the effort to run your long suit in an otherwise worthless hand against a No Trump game contract, what one of the early tricks is usually the most important to take if you can? Why is that the case?

earning an award through her work in "For Whom the Bell Tolls" it's hard to be properly impressed by the Academy Oscars. Seemingly Hollywood isn't very impressed itself, if it can let actors and actresses capable of winning them twiddle their thumbs on the sidelines for who went jobless for years after years at a time.

Sunday, May 11, is National Hospital Day. The public is cordially invited to inspect the Pottstown Hospital, Sunday from 2 to 6 P. M.

"I'd like to know about NURSING!"

"Will I like being a student nurse?"

Yes,—if you like people. A school of nursing offers you the same opportunities for friendships and good times that a college does. In addition, you have the satisfaction of knowing that you are helping people who are ill, and preparing yourself for one of the finest professions, where opportunities for qualified women increase every year.

You have time off every week, occasional week ends and a vacation every year. In your free time, there are sports and recreation, too. And, of course, as you would expect in a hospital, your health is supervised during the three years you study.

"Will I get a good education?"

A splendid one, if you pick a recognized school of nursing. (The doctors and nurses you know can help you to make the choice.) You will learn much about science—and most important of all—you will learn the psychology of handling people and getting along with them. Your education will lead to the professional title of Registered Nurse, and in the college schools of nursing, to the degree of Bachelor of Science, as well.

"Will it lead to an interesting job?"

Yes,—you'll have a hard time deciding which one you want in a hospital. Medical research, which is going ahead so fast, needs nurses and more nurses to care for patients under observation. Great new hospitals are being built across the country. That means more jobs for nurses. Industry, psychiatry, child and public health, Veterans' Administration, U.S. Public Health Service, Army and Navy, all offer profitable opportunities to nurses. That's why nursing is called a growing profession. It hasn't nearly begun to reach its full expansion.

"What are the qualifications for a good nurse?"

You must be under 35, a high school graduate, or a college student. You need good health, and you should like to work with your hands as well as your head. You should be resourceful, trustworthy and cheerful.

"Where can I find out more about nursing?"

Classes are filling up—so go or write to the hospital where you would like to enter nursing. A friendly adviser is waiting to talk confidentially to you. Scholarships are often available for promising students. Uniforms, board and laundry are often provided free.

FORMER SERVICE WOMEN—Wacs, Waves, Marines and Spars! If you qualify as a student nurse, your allowance under the G.I. Bill of Rights may cover your entire nursing education.

Maryland 'Buddy' Describes Full Details Of Daniel Croll's Death in War Combat

Memorial Day will have a new significance for Claude A. Croll, 11 East Philadelphia avenue, Boyertown, this year.

For the past weekend, the thread of a story which began in Boyertown, ran to wartime England in 1944 and reached a climax in the Battle of the Bulge in December, 1944, completed the cycle and came back to Boyertown.

The story concerned the death in action of Croll's youngest son, Pfc. Daniel Croll, on Jan. 7, 1945, in France.

It was told by Philip R. Brown, Falls road, Cockysville, Md., who served in the same outfit with Pfc. Croll and went forward in the Battle of the Bulge in the same platoon. Brown came to visit Croll Sunday at his residence in Boyertown and to talk over with the dead serviceman's father common experiences which he and Daniel had in the Army.

Brown told Croll of his friendship with Daniel, which began in the United States at Camp Mackall, N. C., and Camp Forrest, Tenn. They embarked for England from Boston early in August, 1944. On Christmas day, 1944, Brown said, they were sent by airplane to an airfield near Paris on a most urgent call for men to help stem the Germans, then making their last desperate gamble for victory. Both Croll and Brown at the time were in Company D, 194 Glider Infantry, 14th Airborne Division.

After a lorry trip from the airfield near Paris to Milmont, France, they were employed as ground troops, Brown continued. Their objective was Hill 641. While descending into a gully for the advance to the hill, the platoon ran into heavy German machine gun fire. Brown was hit in the leg; Pfc. Croll and another buddy were both killed instantly. Still another pal of Croll and Brown from Newport News, Va., suffered shock. These men comprised a bazooka team.

The survivors crawled back to their original positions after checking with those who had fallen to make sure that no life existed any longer. The lad from Newport News lay out on the field beside Pfc. Croll for hours in a dazed condition and had to be carried in by medical corpsmen under fire.

Brown related that it was quite a blow to go back without pals who then lay just a few yards from the original positions. Bodies were recovered next day and now lie buried in Grand Fauilly, France, he added in his visit with Pfc. Croll's father. Brown told Croll on Sunday that the Army had a most impressive memorial service for the men who fell in the Battle of the Bulge and that he will always remember it as the last possible chance to pay homage to his pal, Daniel, and others in the outfit.

Brown's unit later moved forward into Germany in glider combat. He stated that there was "not too much to this," as Germany had been softened up by big bombers. The march to Berlin was without much fighting, he added.

Croll has in his possession pictures received from William Stauffer, East Third street, who was a neighbor of the Crolls at one time and later served in the European theatre. Stauffer made a special trip to the cemetery at Grand Fauilly and photographed it. Buried beside Croll is one of his buddies who fought side-by-side with him.

Brown is in the grocery business with his father in Cockysville, Md. One of Mr. Croll's first contacts with Brown was this past Christmas, when he received a Christmas card addressed to his old residence at 32 South Franklin street and signed "a pal of Danny's."

Croll was careful to explain in the interview that he was releasing the information only because he knew his son had many friends in Boyertown and vicinity who would be eager for news of the conditions under which he was killed.

Generals Say May Helped Arms Firm

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Two top wartime generals said today that ex-Congressman Andrew J. May, Kentucky, asked them to help Garsson munitions firms which the Government contends held the wartime house military committee chairman in their pay.

Gens Brehon Somervell, retired Army Service Forces commander, and Eugene Reybold, former chief of Army Engineers, testified May interceded with them about contracts for the $78,000,000 Garsson arms-making empire.

After their appearance, the prosecution turned to its charge that May sent a major general by plane to Europe in April, 1945 to deliver a letter to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower interceding in a court martial of the son of a munitions maker.

At the same time, the defense disclosed that it has issued a subpoena for Eisenhower, now Army chief of staff, to be a witness for the 72-year-old May. William A. Paisley, chief prosecutor, told the court he also may call Eisenhower but hopes to avoid it.

May is charged with taking more than $50,000 in alleged bribes for favors to the Garssons. On trial with him for conspiracy to pay the alleged bribes are Henry and Murray Garsson and Joseph F. Freeman, Washington agent for the Garsson brothers.

From the declaration of a national emergency in the Summer of 1940 through early 1946 nearly sixteen million American men and women served in uniform.

Convicted Reading Man Asks Court for New Trial

By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, May 9 — Willis Giles, 38-year-old Reading car shop worker, who was convicted Thursday of sodomy by a jury before Judge William F. Dannehower, was remanded to the county prison today to await the outcome of argument on motions for a new trial which were filed with the court today.

Giles, a father of two small children, was accused by Pottstown police as the assailant of a six-year-old Pottstown boy who said the man picked up in his car and drove him to a secluded spot.

The defendant denied the charge, maintaining that he was at home when the crime is alleged to have occurred on Feb. 6.

Tribute
to Mother

Though thousands of miles separate mother and child; though their opinions differ and sense of values vary, their love for each other which is the truest, purest love, unites them for all time and under all circumstances.

It is MOTHER who is always forgiving and conciliatory.

It is MOTHER who forgets the unpleasant — and cherishes the pleasant memories.

It is MOTHER to whom we dedicate Sunday, May 11, with remembrances to comfort and delight her in small measure as she comforts and delights us all our lives.

Church Procession At St. Aloysius to Honor Virgin Mary

The annual May procession in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary will be held at St. Aloysius Catholic church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Nearly 300 boys and girls will march from St. Aloysius school to the church for devotions before the shrine of Our Lady. The boys will wear white ties, and the girls, carrying flowers, will be dressed in the traditional white dresses.

Jane Gantert, 868 North Evans street, chosen May Queen at the school last week, will carry the garland of flowers and will crown the statue of the Virgin at the devotions.

There will be a morning procession of 75 children making their first Holy Communion at the 9 o'clock Mass. They will participate later in the afternoon procession.

Eighth grade girls will have a procession at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night when they are admitted as new members in the sodality of the Children of Mary.

Special May hymns dedicated to the Blessed Virgin will be sung at the processions.

The custom of dedicating the month of May in honor of Our Lady, erecting a shrine, having processions, and meeting together daily in church for prayers and hymns is known as the May devotions. The practice was approved and indulged by Pope Pius VII.

Stowe Banquet to Fete Catholic Church Mothers

Mother's Day will be celebrated with a banquet at St. Michael's Ukrainian Catholic church, Stowe, immediately following high mass tomorrow.

Father Nicholas Barnecky will be in charge of the celebration which

Pughtown Baptist Plan Mother's Day Worship

A Mother's Day worship service will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Pughtown Baptist church, the Rev. Charles W. Jared, pastor.

The youngest mother, the oldest mother, and the mother with the largest family in attendance each will receive a remembrance of the day.

Church to Present Flowers to Mothers

Mothers of the East Nantmeal Baptist church congregation will each receive a carnation tomorrow morning when the church observes Mother's Day with a program which will include a play, songs and music appropriate to the day.

The oldest and youngest mothers will receive special gifts. The ceremony starts at 11 o'clock.

A play, "My Mother's Hands," will have a cast composed of Ruth Hazel and Naomi Ayres, Roberta and Beatrice Orrs, Lorraine Houck, Jenny Knauer, Walter Ayres, Joseph Pierce and Rob Roy Griffith.

Doris Seal will sing "Mother Love" and "That Wonderful Mother of Mine." Mrs. D. C. Knauer will play a medley of songs.

At 7:30 o'clock young parishioners will sponsor "Old Mill Night." Members of the Old Mill Bible conference, Brandamore, will furnish vocal and instrumental music. The Rev. Arch McKinlay will preach the sermon.

The first Old Mill meeting of a Summer-long series will be held on Memorial Day with services at 3 and 7:30 p. m.

will be held in the church basement. Entertainment for the affair will be provided by the children of the church.

At the banquet one of the mothers of the church will be honored with a bouquet of flowers.

Trinity Sunday School To Mark Mother's Day

A program appropriate to the observance of Mother's Day will be presented during the Sunday school session at Trinity Reformed church, Hanover and King streets tomorrow morning. The session will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

The program will be in charge of Mrs. Chester Schwab, president of the Mothers' class. The class is sponsoring the service.

An address will be delivered by Mrs. J. A. Climenhaga. Mrs. Paul Dutenhofer will sing and the Sunday school orchestra, in charge of Raymond Elliott, will play several selections.

At the morning worship service the Festival of the Christian Home will be observed. The Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor, will preach on the theme, "Christian Living Begins At Home." Appropriate music will be presented by Miss Bessie K. Bechtel, soloist, and Mrs. Minnie B. Lehr, organist.

Mothers today must train Youth for tomorrow

Sunday, America will pause and pay honor to its Motherhood. All over the land, there will be gifts and loving expressions for living mothers, and sweet memories, a silent tear and a little white flower for those who sleep.

Many of those we will honor are old and feeble, with years of patient toil and loving devotion behind them. Others are young, like the little mother in this picture, with the mystic light of young motherhood in their eyes.

The Character of the American people has been shaped more largely by mothers than by men. The silent influence of a mother's character is planted deep in the heart of her child.

When people think of their mothers, the most vivid impressions are those of their devotion and toil and the moral and spiritual teachings they imparted. We need have no fear for the future, so long as our Motherhood remains unshaken.

For Mothers are the link between generation and generation — between God and Man — between Time and Eternity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, there is no democracy, no civilization, no survival. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Miss Molly Ames To Present Program At Century Club

Molly Ames with her guitar will present a program of the World's Folk Songs, a musical trip around the world, at a meeting of Century club Wednesday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock in Library hall.

Miss Ames in costume, sings in a score of languages and dialects and accompanies herself on the guitar. She precedes each song with a short explanation of its meaning and its significance in the life of the people it represents.

Her program includes American and English songs, Negro melodies of the deep South songs of Appalachian Mountain people and frontier songs burning with the vigor and violence of the early West. The folk songs of the old world interpret the spirit of our brother nations.

Miss Ames, a cantalio, was a former member of the Peasant Singers and has done solo work on the radio.

Miss C. Carson Potter chairman of the ways and means committee announced that the committee would hold a birthday party in conjunction with the program at which each member will be expected to contribute her age in pennies in order to make up the small amount needed to reach the goal set for the committee.

The program has been arranged by members of the music and program committees. Members of the music committee are Mrs. Chester Bechtel, Mrs. Charles W. Compton, Mrs. Karl S. Johnson, Mrs. Walter Krause, Mrs. John G. Ludwick Jr., Mrs. J. Russell Reifsnider, and Mrs. James I. Wendell.

Members of the program committee include Mrs. Irvin W. March, chairman; Mrs. J. Robert Gray, Mrs. B. Frank Hafer, Mrs. Maurice Mosheim, Mrs. Edwin S. Orr, Mrs. Sydney Pollock, Mrs. Ralph H. Spare Jr., and Mrs. Clarence Yocom.

Church's New Members Honored at Reception

The 35 new members of Christ Episcopal church who were received the past Sunday by confirmation and 18 others who became church members by letter of transfer last night were entertained at a reception given for them by the Men's club of the church.

The Triads, a singing group, provided music and sports movies were shown later. Refreshments, served by the Women's club followed.

The affair was held in the parish house and began at 8 o'clock.

Thomas P. Storm is president of the Men's club and Mrs. Charles R. Gochbauer heads the women's organization. About 100 attended.

took the floor in the crowded committee room just after Russia had demanded in open debate that a proposed U. N. inquiry commission on Palestine submit a plan "for establishing without delay the independent state of Palestine."

Moshe Shertok, of the Jewish agency, immediately objected on the grounds that "independence cannot be considered without also considering establishment of a national home for the Jews."

The committee adjourned until 11 a. m. (Pottstown time) tomorrow after delegates asked Katan a series of questions to be answered by the Arab committee next week. Russia requested a copy of the Arab speech for overnight study.

David Ben-Gurion of Jerusalem, chairman of the Jewish agency executive, stood up to speak later probably Monday as Shertok challenged the Soviet proposal.

The Soviet proposal appeared due to draw the fire of the United States and Britain. They wanted merely to give the commission broad instructions and evade specific terms.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia, tossed the issue to the assembly's 55-nation political committee in the midst of preliminary discussions of instructions for the investigating body. The Soviet deputy foreign minister also insisted that the group conduct an on-the-spot inquiry in Palestine.

Spicer Wage Proposal To Be Aired by Local

The wage proposal of the Spicer Manufacturing company, the result of seven weeks of negotiations with Local 644, United Automobile Workers (CIO), will be read to local members at a meeting tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in the Eagles' home.

Although the contract is good until January, 1948, the wage clause was reopened the past March for negotiations.

Harper R. Diener, president of the local, gave no indication last night what the company proposal would be.

The local's membership totals about 1900.

Troop 18 Is Winner In Clean-Up Campaign

Boy Scout Troop 18 of St. James Lutheran church yesterday was awarded first prize of $15 in the Chamber of Commerce's annual clean-up and paint-up campaign.

The award was made by the sponsoring committee of which David Abrams is chairman.

The troop was proclaimed winner for its work in clearing a vacant lot near its meeting place of weeds and refuse.

Scoutmaster is Edward Jameson.

TAX DECREASE —

the effective date. The House has voted to make the cut date back to the past Jan. 1. That would entail sending out refunds to taxpayers for overpayments from January through June.

Here is the schedule of reductions approved by the senators:

Thirty percent off for persons with net incomes (after exemptions and deductions) of $1000 or less.

From 30 to 20 percent off on incomes between $1000 and $1396.

Twenty percent reduction from $1396 to $1728.

Fifteen percent reduction from $1728 to $302,396.

Ten and five-tenths percent off above $302,396.

A man with a net income of $100,000 would get the benefit of the 20 percent reduction on the first $79,728 of his income, and 15 percent off on the balance. A man with income above $302,396 would get the benefit of a 20 percent cut on his first $79,728 and of a 15 percent cut on income between that point and $302,396. The 10.5 rate cut would apply only to taxes on income above $302,396. No one would get the benefit of the 30 percent cut on any part of his income unless he is in the bracket of those with net incomes of $1000 or less.

The 15 percent bracket was an innovation of the Senate committee. The House bill carries the 20 percent cut bracket straight through from $1396 to $302,396.

The cuts under the Senate committee bill would be reflected July 1 in new withholding rates. A married man with two children, earning $75 a week from which $5.50 a week is now withheld for taxes, would find withholdings trimmed to $4.40.

Next March when he figures his 1947 income tax, he would find his reduction over the whole year only 10 percent instead of 20 percent.

Although the University of Notre Dame is a Roman Catholic institution, many Protestants and Jews are members of the faculty.

County CE Opens Annual Convention In Trinity Church

The annual convention of Montgomery County Christian Endeavor union opened in Roversford Trinity Evangelical Congregational church last night with Gordon Walters, co-chairman of the convention committee, presiding.

Ted Place, of Eastern Baptist seminary, Philadelphia, was song leader. Special music was provided by Claude Dondore, Reading baritone soloist, and Clair Umstead and Robert Wanner, both of Roversford, trumpet duets.

The Rev. Fred W. Druckenmiller, native of Roversford, now pastor of Connecticut Farms Presbyterian church, Union, N. J., was the speaker. He discussed "This Is My Day."

The convention will continue this morning at 10 o'clock with a junior convention presided over by Miss Laura Weber, Norristown.

Clair Umstead, Roversford, will conduct this afternoon's meeting at 2:30 o'clock with an open forum discussion in charge of the Rev. Earl Redding, pastor of United Brethren church, York.

A banquet will be served tonight at 5:30 o'clock in Humane firehouse with Douglas Nichols, Pottstown, president, as toastmaster.

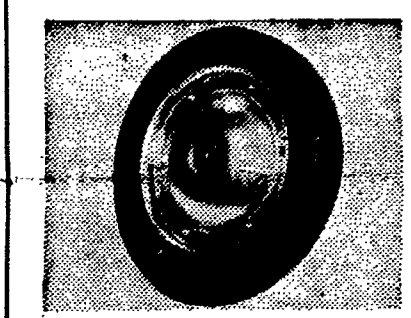

The closing session will convene tonight at 7:45 o'clock with Ralph Rosenberger, North Wales, presiding. The Rev. Frederick Fritsch, of Manoa, vice president of the State CE, will be song leader. The Triads, Pottstown women's chorus, will sing and the Crossaires, Roversford group, will play instrumental music.

The Rev. Luther Wesley Smith, executive secretary of the Baptist Publication society, will speak.

$100 Fine Is Imposed In Oister Morals Case

By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, May 9 — Carl Oister, 20, of Pottstown, who was convicted of a misdemeanor by a jury before Judge George C. ## World Bank Loans France 250 Million

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The World Bank announced today its first loan—a $250,000,000 one to France which had applied for $500,000,000.

The loan money is to be spent on material and equipment to reconstruct and modernize France's war-torn industry.

It is to run for 30 years and bear 3 1/4 percent interest, with another one percent going to the bank as a commission, making the total interest cost to France 4 1/4 percent.

The interest charge presumably set a pattern for other loans to be made by the bank.

Eight other countries are seeking a commission, making the total interest cost to France 4 1/4 percent.

The loan money is to be spent on material and equipment to reconstruct and modernize France's war-torn industry.

It was then that Senators Murray and Pepper blocking any such agreement, announced that they and other Democrats they did not name had their substitute on tap.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) jumped up with a protest about "completely dilatory" tactics in view of the two weeks the debate already has run.

Murray told Taft he was being "unfair." Senator Hatch (D-NM) declared that Taft's remarks were in "rather bad taste" because Republicans have been offering all the amendments so far. Senator Lucas (D-III) protested that the remarks were not "cricket as we understand it in the United States Senate." And Pepper suggested that maybe Taft did not mean them.

Taft arose and announced: "I meant to say exactly what I said."

He insisted that Murray, Pepper and the others should have offered their substitute earlier "as a matter of courtesy" to the Senate.

Among proposals shouted down was an amendment by Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.) which sought to relieve war veterans from payment of union dues.

"This simply relieves all veterans honorably discharged from having to pay union fees to get a job," O'Daniel said.

Taft opposed it as a "special closed shop provision for veterans." The Ball-Byrd amendment to outlaw the union shop was batted down, 57 to 21. Its defeat had no effect on a ban on the closed shop already in the bill.

Ball argued that as the bill stands, a union might suspend more than half of its members from voting privileges and yet control its funds because the suspended workers would be required to continue paying dues to retain their jobs.

SHANGHAI, May 9 (AP)—Hungry for rice and angry at a government wage-freezing program, Shanghai Chinese staged a wide variety of riots, strikes and sit-downs today.

Owners of rice shops, contending they had been insulted by comments on their high prices, retaliated noticeably.

The demonstrations, intermittently in progress for several days, stepped up sharply as the continuing currency inflation pushed the cost of China's basic food farther out of the reach of the average person.

Owners of most rice shops refused to open up, despite a promise by Mayor K. C. Wu of better police protection. One shopkeeper was arrested for firing a pistol at a mob. Other shops were bombarded with stones.

tensively damaged several non-food stores because they said the proprietors had called them "rice worms."

The same epithet was attributed to a radio commentator, and the rice dealers assaulted the manager and damaged the station. The commentator escaped through a nearby theater, but its furnishings were damaged and three persons were injured in the pursuit.

Employees of another radio station called a sit-down strike.

Two thousand bus and street car workers in the former French concession took the day off for a parade. Seven thousand machine shop employees and 1500 in the silk industry also demonstrated.

Police reserves surrounded the city hall, where the mayor conferred all day and into the night with various protesting groups.

Outside, students and workers blocked traffic and plastered signs on walls and cars. The mayor left during the night for Nanking to attend a meeting of the national price commission.

He said he had asked the food ministry to allot 20,000 tons of rice to the city each month. This is believed to be part of a not-yet-operative scheme to provide 1,500,000 Shanghai workers and students about a pound a day at the official price of about 10 U. S. cents a pound.

The going price in the open market is twice that, with scanty offerings.

Authorities expressed fear that more serious rioting and a city-wide work stoppage might eventuate.

Price Investigators Cause
of Tools on Fire Whistle

The fire whistle on the roof of borough hall gave three toots shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and Borough Electrician William H. Price is investigating.

He said someone apparently was playing pranks with the fire alarm system on No. 4 circuit, which is east of Hanover street and north of High street and west of Washington.

Price conferred yesterday afternoon with Chief of Police James A. Laughead and Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer. He believes someone is causing short circuits, which result in the tooting of the whistle.

MORRIS C. SPATZ, 89, formerly of Linfield, died yesterday at the home of a son, Royal F. Spatz, 3024 LIMEKILN PIKE, NORTH HILLS, following an illness of six months.

Formerly a school teacher in Berks county, he later moved to Linfield, where he resided 50 years. For sometime he was employed as a railroad telegrapher at the Linfield station. He was last employed at the Sanitary company, Linfield. Mr. Spatz was born at Hamburg, son of the late Abraham and Matilda Spatz. He was a member of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Surviving are his wife, Sarah A. Spatz, two sons and one daughter: Royal, with whom he last lived; Jacob, Paoli, and Reba, wife of Fred W. Keeley, Royersford; also two brothers and a sister, Abram, and Moses, Reading, and Ida Yoder, Shartlesville, Berks county.

Funeral services will be held at 367 Walnut street, Royersford, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with burial in St. James cemetery, Limerick.

The injured boy was in a coma-

to state when admitted to the hospital Dr. E. Carleton, Royersford,

who treated him, said he suffered

lacerations and contusions of the scalp with a possible fracture of the skull. The exact extent of his injury could not be determined last night.

He was reported in a serious condition.

Royersford Youth Hit by Automobile; Taken to Hospital

Sidney Howard, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Howard, 487 Second avenue, Royersford, was admitted to Phoenixville hospital with serious head injuries, after he was struck by an automobile near his home early last night.

Police said the car was driven by Ernest Calcione, 206 Summer street, Royersford, who was driving east down grade, beyond the borough limits, in Upper Providence township. It was reported the lad was walking along the side of the road with a companion, William Pence Jr., aged 6, when the accident occurred. Calcione stopped and took the boy to the hospital, after which he reported to State police at Collegeville barracks, who began an investigation.

The injured boy was in a coma-

to state when admitted to the hospital Dr. E. Carleton, Royersford,

who treated him, said he suffered

lacerations and contusions of the

New Law Permits Insurance Companies To Invest in State Home Construction

HARRISBURG, May 9 (AP)—Gov. James H. Duff signed into law today legislation aimed at the release of millions in life insurance company reserves for home and commercial construction.

Backed by veterans organizations and opposed by builders' organizations, the measures permit the insurance companies to invest up to 10 percent of their assets in homes, apartments or other dwellings for rental or for sale.

The new laws also authorize two or more companies, with approval of the State insurance commissioner, to join in the development of housing projects and repeal a 1945 law limiting such construction to slum clearance.

The companies also can build commercial and industrial buildings for long-term lease to big companies, an insurance department spokesman said.

The executive also approved a second of the so-called "Pittsburgh package" measures authorizing the county to establish garbage disposal plants.

Retired Officer Dies
WEST CHESTER, May 9 (AP)—Col. Joseph M. Reilly, 52, a retired Army officer and former commander of the Army Postal school at West Chester State Teachers college, died today in Chester county hospital.

Explaining it "opens up the field" for investments backed by some of the biggest retail organizations in the nation.

"An insurance company can build a $500,000 warehouse and before a spade of earth is turned, a lease would be signed backed by the full faith and credit of the company renting the proposed structure," the spokesman said.

Duff also placed his signature on a bill extending Allegheny county's anti-smoke regulations to railroad locomotives with the comment that "nothing that I know of will do more to better living conditions in the Pittsburgh area than the elimination of the smoke nuisance."

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, William R. of Limerick, and Charles P. of Masonville, N. J.; three daughters, Mrs. Rudolph Keen, 1241 Maple street; Ella C., at home, and Mrs. Carroll Bechtel Jr., at home; a sister, Mrs. James DePaul, of Runnemede, N. J., and six grandchildren.

Services will be held from his home at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, with further services in Christ Episcopal church.

Burial arrangements were not completed last night.
